Come to the Hoosier Chapter Shinnenkai

Celebrate the New Year with great food, great company, and a meaningful program at 1pm Saturday, February 6, 2016, at the Irvington Presbyterian Church at 55 Johnson Avenue, Indianapolis.

Please bring a covered dish to share for our pitch-in luncheon: meat, salad, vegetable, rice, or dessert. Drinks and paper goods will be provided. Ozoni (traditional Japanese New Year soup) by Tae Carter/George Hanasono will be served.

Guests are welcome!

Ken Matsumoto and George Hanasono will share their recent experiences as part of “Kansha, Too,” a study group organized by Chicago JACL. The group learned about the history of Japanese Americans by visiting Little Tokyo in downtown Los Angeles and Manzanar, a detention center during WWII. The program will also explore the fragility of civil liberties in times of crises.

Directions: Take Washington Street to Audubon Road. There is a stop light. Turn south onto Audubon Road. You will see the Irvington Public Library on your right. Take second right into the library’s parking lot and drive across the parking lot toward the church which you will see on your left. Park near the east entrance of the church. Enter via basement stairs.
